the colours

the colours have undergone an extensive process, which makes them suitable for all weather conditions. By using pigment, the colour has deeply gone through the fiberstone. The square shaped pots are available in sundried brown, red and white and the round shapes in dark brown, desert red and off white.

the material

the only material used in the earth collection is fiberstone, what makes the pottery extra strong and durable. The outside structure has been applied with special molds to create that earthy, natural character. This is subtly done at the rounded shapes, while the square shapes have a heavier look-and-feel.

all seasons

both the base of the pots as well as the structured finish are fully made of fiberstone, what ensures that the collection is suitable for all seasons. The outside of the pots are sprayed with a pu and have an uv resistant coating for extra protection.
